Dissociative Dysphonia in Delusional Disorder

Dr. Mithun S., & Dr. Hanock Nischal

1Assistant Professor, Department of Psychiatry, Srinivas Institute of Medical Sciences & Research Centre, Mangalore, India
2Assistant Professor, Department of ENT, Srinivas Institute of Medical Sciences & Research Centre, Mangalore, India
E-mail: mdmitsmj@gmail.com

ABSTRACT

Dissociative dysphonia is less commonly seen in general population. Previous literature has focussed on interplay of dysphonia mainly in schizophrenia or schizoaffective disorders. Here we discuss a unique case of delusional disorder with dissociative dysphonia. The challenges in the evaluation and management are discussed.

Keywords: Dissociation, Dysphonia, Delusional disorder.

How to Cite this Paper: